TOPICS OF NATIONAL INTEREST. THE STRUGGLE OF REPUBLICANS TO SECURE TARIFF

REVISION-A HISTORICAL WORK BY MR. BLAINE -A RIVER AND HARBOR BILL-MR. HEWITT ON FREE IRON ORE AND SCRAP IRON.

The Democrats in the House continued yesterday their policy of filibustering against the Tariff bill, though in a different form, and succeeded in wasting the day. In the Senate the woollen schedule of the Tariff bill was under consideration and several amendments were agreed to. It is announced that Ex-Secretary Blaine has been engaged in the preparation of a political history of the nation for the period from 1861 to 1881. The House Committee on Commerce, it is stated, will not report the River and Harbor bill until after the report of the Special Committee on the Mississippi River Improvement has been made. Congressman A. S. Hewitt in a letter to S. S. Cox, which was presented in the House yesterday, defends his position in favor of free iron ore and free scrap

A NEW FORM OF FILIBUSTERING. THE DEMOCRATS IN THE HOUSE SUCCEED IN WAST-

ING ANOTHER DAY. IBY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.]
WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Democratic filibustering against the Tariff bill assumed a new but not less effective form to-day, and resulted in keeping the House more than three hours on the four remaining paragraphs of Schedule B. As usual, the bushwhackers led in the filibustering proceedings, and, as usual, they were promptly supported by Messrs. Carlisle, Morrison, Tucker and nearly every other Democrat, except Mr. Randall, who, of course, 'dodged" most of the votes.

The first amendment offered was one by Mr. Tucker to reduce the duty on plate-glass of a certain size from 25 cents to 15 cents per square foot. Mr. Tucker had not finished his five minutes for the amendment speech was apparent that he would have of the men and events of the time which it treats of two youthful Democratic Representatives— This will make its appearance an event of National Mr. Clardy and Mr. Frost-about his ears. Both gentlemen represent St. Louis districts, and it appears the tariff is a lively "local issue" in their town. Mr. Clardy especialty was aroused, and he made a capital speech in favor of a protective tariff, as well as in behalf of the "infant industry" against which Mr. Tucker's amendment was directed. After nearly a half hour of discussion, Chairman Kelley thought that a vote ought to be taken on the paragraph and amendments, and he therefore moved that the Committee of the Whole report to the House and secure an order closing the debate. Once in the House the Democrats made an effort to obtain another twenty minutes, which the Republicans refused, whereupon filbustering began, and an hour was thus wasted. This performance was not led by Mr. Carlisle or by Mr. Tucker, but was promptly supported by both of them.

No amendments to schedule B were adopted to-day. Messrs, Morrison and Wheeler offered provisos for an annual reduction of duties on a sliding scale, but both were rejected. Mr. Anderson then offered as a substitute for the whole schedule the corresponding schedule of the Senate bill somewhat modified. Mr. Haskell opposed this because it "is a radical advance on the rates adopted by the House.", The Democrats supported Mr. Anderson's motion, and thus to that extent approved the Senate bill. The substitute was rejected-53 to 100 -Mr. Anderson being the only Republican who

Before the first paragraph of Schedule C-metalswas read Mr. Morrison bashfully announced that he desired to offer a proposition which, if adopted, would save a good deal of time; it was that the House drop Schedule C and accept Schedule C of the Senate bill in its stead. "What if it should be voted down ?" asked Messrs. Kelley, McKinley and "Well, I suppose that Haskell simultaneously. would end it," replied Mr. Morrison more bashfully than ever, as he sat down amid derisive laughter from the Republicans.

S. S. Cox obtained leave to have printed in The Record a statement respecting Schedule C, prepared by Abram L. Hewitt, who is detained from the use by illness. The first paragraph was read and Chairman Kelley offered an amendment from the Ways and Means Committee, increasing the proposed duty on iron ore, including manganiferous iron ore and the dross from burnt pyrites, from 50 cents to 75 cents per ton. No action was taken upon this amendment to-day. There are indications of a disposition on the part of some of the Democratic Representatives to voice for the Senate bill, if it can be brought before the House and so amended as to abolish the tobacco tax. To a TRIBUNE correspondent, to-day, an influential Southern Representative declared his willfluential Southern Representations and intimated ingress to do so "as a compromise," and intimated that others on his side were ready to do the same. It may be that if the bill now in the Senate shall pass that body and It may be that if the bill now in the Senate shall pass that body and the Ways and Means bill shall reach a final vote, the Tariff amendments to the former bill may be offered in the House as a substitute for bill may be offered in the House as a substitute for the latter measures. There would be no parliamentary obstacle to such a coarse. On both sides of the House there is real anxiety on account of the Internal Revenue bill, and in order to save it some Republicans will be ready, in case it shall be returned to the House with the tariff amendments, to raise a point of order against the latter on the ground that they are not germane to the original bill. It has been suggested too that the House will consider the tariff amendments of the Senate obnoxious to the constitutional provision which requires that all revenue bills shall originate in the House of Representatives; but it is dono ful whether such an objection would be sustained.

THE TARIFF IN THE SENATE.

DISCUSSING THE WOOL SCHEDULE-AMENDMENTS

WHICH WERE AGREED TO. WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 .- In the Senate to-day the Tariff bill was further considered. An amendment offered by Mr. Beck extending the duty of 10 cents per pound laid by the bill upon " wools of the first class, the value whereof at the last port or place When exported to the United States, excluding charges in such port, shall be 30 cents per pound or less" to such woo's valued at 32 cents or less per pound was agreed to by a vo e of 25 to 24.

Mr. Beck moved to make the duty on "wooller cloths, shawls and all manufactures of wool of every description, made wholly or in part of wool, not specially enumerated or provided for" 35 instead of 40 cents per pound, leaving the additional ad valorem duty 35 per cent, as in the bill,

Mr. Sherman offered as a substitute for this paragraph, the paragraph recommended by the Tariff Commission making the duty on woollen cloths, etc., valued at not exceeding $1 per pound, 30 cents per pound and 35 per cent ad valorem, and on that valued above $1, 35 cents per pound and 40 per cent ad valorem.

After some discussion, Mr. Sherman modified his amendment so as to read as follows: "Woollen cloths, woollen shawls, and all manufactures of wool of every description, made wholly or in part valued at above 80 cents per sound, was made 35 on Mr. Beck's motion, the duty on butting was reduced from 12 to 10 cents per square yard and 35 per cent advances.

THE RIVER AND HARBOR BILL.

IBY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNG! Washington, Feb. 6.-The House Committee on Commerce have decided not to report the River and Harbor bill until after the Special Committee on the Mississippi River Improvement shall have submitted their report. It is understood that this report will be submitted to the special committee for approval to-morrow. Exclusive of the items for the lower Mis-assippi, the amount recommended by the Commerce Committee is about $6,000,000. Members of the committee say that all of this sum is to be used to continue improvements now under way, and upon which large sums have already been expended, as, for example, the harbors of Baltimore, Charleston, Savannah, and-of course-Oak-ninety works specified as objectionable and unnecessary by the Secretary of War in his the House resolution; but reply to in every such case, members of the committee assert, the reports and estimates of the War Department, submitted to Congress prior to the date of the Secretary's letter, sustain their action. It is reported that some of the items respecting which an attempt is to be made to override the Secretary of War are for works in which Chairman Page and artempt is to be made to override the Secretary of War are for works in which Chairman Page and other influential members of the committee are specially interested.

In behalf of the committee it is asserted that the amount recommended in each case is less than 30 per cent of the engineers' estimates, but no mention is made of the very large unexpected balance of the enormous sum appropriated last summer. It is also contended that unless the bill shall be bassed large expenditures heretofore made for works not yet completed will come to naught on account of the impairment and destruction which will result from leaving such works in an uninissed state.

It is probable that an effort will be made to pass the bill under a suspension of the rules on February 19 but members of the Commerce Committee are by no means as certain as they would like to be

CAUCUS OF REPUBLICAN SENATORS.

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.) WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 .- In view of the length of time which the Tariff bill was likely to consume in the Senate and the necessity for making the best possible use of that which would remain after it was disposed of, the Republican Caucus Committee of the Senate, a few days ago, asked the chairman of each of the Senate committees to name the three bills from his committee which he considered mos important, in order that a caucus might take them all into consideration and decide the order in which they should be taken up. A caucus of Republican Senators took place this evening in respect to the order of business. No result was reached and it was decided to hold another very soon. The discussion developed the fact that a strong interest is f lt by Republican Senators in the Dakota Bond bill, the passage of which is desired chiefly as a preliminary to the admission of a portion of that Territory as a state. Sena or Edmunds pressed the importance of his Claims bill and Senator floar championed his Baukruptey bill. The rival pension bills were also discussed as among the measures of leading interest. About half the Republicans of the Senate were present, and the cancus remained in session three-quarters of an hour, Nothing was said about the Tariff bill, which may be disposed of this week if any way can be devised to prevent a repetition of the struggles over iron, lumber and other leading features of the bill when it is reported to the Senate. decided to hold another very soon. OF FREE IRON ORE AND SCRAP IRON. Washington, Feb. 6.-In the House to-day Mr. Cox, of New-York, while debate on the Tariff bill was in progress, stating that his colleague, Mr. Hewitt, was unable to attend the sessions of the House on account of sickness, obtained leave to have printed in The Record a letter from that gen tleman. The letter is dated New-York, February 5 and is addressed to Mr. Cox. It is as follows:

This was agreed to, and, Mr. Beck's amendment thaving been withdrawn, the paragraph was left in this form.

On motion of Mr. Aldrich, the duty on fiannels, blank-ts, haus of wool, and goods made on knitting frames, baimerals, woollen and worsted yarns, and all manufactures of every description composed wholly or in part of worsted, the hair or the Alpaca goat or other animals, except such as are composed in part of wool, not specially enumerated or provided for.

There was an immense crowd in the streets, among the spectators being about wenty-five thousand visitors from all parts of the Union During the afternoon the King of the Carnival appeared with a grand pageant of twenty cars followed by the Phunny Phorty Phellows with fourteen cars, and the Independent Order of the Moon with sixteen cars. The royal pageaut, preceded by Bour-Gras and attendants, illustrated Atlantis, or the lost con-Gras and attendants, illustrated Atiantis, or the lost continent described by Plato. The tableaus presented were designed to represent Atlanteaus in their social, religious and political customs. In the preparation of the pascant much assistance was derived from the work of Ignatius Boanelly, ex-Congressman from Minnesota. The original costumes made in Paris, which are pronounced the finest of their kind, were not received owing to the non-arrival of the steamer Dryburgh Abbey. There were about 120 characters in the pascant and seventy pieces of papier-mache work. The subject of the fifth representation by the Phanny Phorty Phellows was, as usual, of a comical character, and embraced travestics on the drama and opera. Among the tableaus were burle-que illustrations of "Haulet," "The Merchent of Venice," "Mascotte" and "Patlence." The Independent Order of the Moon, for their third procession, presented grotesque illustrations of familiar rhymes.

About 1 o'clock the weather cleared off and during the progress of the first time in the past three days. At night appeared the ninth parcant of the Kuguts of Morms. The subject was the "Moors in Spain." The cars were eighteen in number illustrating scenes from Ignanda as described by Washington Irving and other writers. In this display there were ten or twelve horses, life-size, of papier-mache, and the cars were magnificently decorated. The royal reception at the Imperial Palace was attended by an immense crowd of people, the number of invitations being over 25,000. The throre room, in which the King and Queen-received toge her with Lord and Lady Baltimore, was painted to represent the bottom of the sea where Atlantis sank. ors of the State ": Not as to-night ye gailler here, Light-hearted, and with words of cheer, The happy sense of power That well becomes the hour;

Not thus, nor many, as ye are, But in the dark days of the war, Which none that knew forget, The few, your founders met.

Not lightly, as men meet to feast, But sternly, as they choose the least Of evils, since they must: The choice they made was just. Was just. For though in times of peace Factions, like all rank weeds, increase, There comes a moment when Paction must cease—or men!

Past is the season of debate.

When former thunder at the gate;

Words then, the wisest words,

Are wanted not—but swords!

Gravely the founders met. They know That there was other work to do That there was other work to do Than that of shot and shell, Which, in its way, is well;

And other, harder fights to gain Than those that piled the fields with slain The victory of Will, That, baffled, conquers still; Knowledge of Law and Government, Their sovereign purpose and intent— What makes a people great, And constitutes a State.

The tasks they set themselves were those Which in great perils men impose
